Instructions for submitting an abstract

You are invited to submit an abstract before December 15th. Acknowledgment of receipt will be sent automatically. If you do not receive any acknowledgment, please contact us again.

For talks, a maximum of two abstracts will be accepted for each speaker. All authors of accepted abstracts must register and be paid in full by the early registration deadline (currently February 2018). Authors failing to comply with this rule will not be included in the Conference Programme.

Oral (spoken) presentations will be limited to 20 minutes: 15 minutes for presentation and 5 minutes for questions. Contributed oral presentations will be grouped by topic. If your abstract is accepted but cannot be accommodated as an oral presentation, we may offer you the opportunity to present a poster. All oral presentation rooms will be equipped with a computer and a data projector.
Poster presenters will receive general instructions on poster format once the abstract is accepted. Detailed information and instructions on presentations at the meeting will be available to presenters several months before the meeting.

Abstract (limited to 150 words)	Biodiversity conservation in the 21st century depends on land-sharing between humans and wildlife. Where living space overlaps, wildlife may come into conflict with human interests and mitigation of human-wildlife conflicts is an emerging global challenge. Although interventions to reduce these conflicts become an important part of wildlife management, the scientific evidence of intervention effectiveness is not easily accessed by those intended to use interventions. EviWild is a free online resource developed to make scientific evidence accessible. This newly established website communicates evidence synthesis findings in short synopses for interventions aiming to reduce conflicts over human lives, livestock and pets, game, crops, property, and human minds. The aim of EviWild is to make evidence on wildlife conflict mitigation interventions available to decision makers, practitioners, and interest groups, and to highlight knowledge gaps and needs for further evidence synthesis. Ultimately, the evidence communication could help improve wildlife management practices worldwide.

Required support for French/English translation (for talks)	I will only present in English. If a translation to French is needed then I guess I need support.
